

tolingo stands for service. But we are not only concerned with high quality translation in over 220 language combinations.

We will soon be providing online information and tips on many subjects related to the theme of translation. Let's take the subject of job applications for example. Who would have known that a cover letter for a British company should be structured differently to a cover letter for an American company?

We hope that you find this guide helpful!